Tail length shown in photo appears to be sufficiently long to eliminate not only Common Grackle, but Boat-tailed Grackle as well.

Comments:

The photograph does not show the bird clearly, but for me it gives a sense of a tail too long for a Common Grackle's, with something of the "bend" in mid-tail that gives Great-tailed a certain look. It is hard to get a sense of the head shape and bill size/shape from the photo. The written comments about size in comparison to nearby Common Grackles are also helpful.
